Autodesk Inventor 2011 x64, Visual Studio 2008.Q: Restrict click in background of image My question is what is the best way to restrict users from clicking on an image in background. The situation is, there is an image on the homepage on top of the website. And if user click on the image, it will open the login page, so the user can not click any links that are on the page, nor can they click the submit buttons. A: You can create a simple div overlay and set it's opacity to 0. You can style the overlay to look however you wish, and when a user clicks on the element, you can check to see if the page is in the path that you expect for an un-logged in user. If it's not, you can prevent the event from propagating, or you can redirect to a page that the user shouldn't be on. This is the login page #overlay { position: absolute; top: 0; left: 0; width: 100%; height: 100%; z-index: 999; background-color: rgba(0, 0, 0, 0.5); opacity: 0; transition:.5s ease-in-out; } #loggedIn { position: absolute; top: 50%; left: 50%; transform: translate(-50%, -50%); z-index: 1000; padding: 15px; border-radius: 50%; background-color: #fff; color: #777; font-weight: 600; } For a quick demo, try changing the z-index of #overlay. Here's a fiddle. Q: What is a
